HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

EASTERN NEWS BY MAIL

From the Philadelphia [illegible]

THE [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Dec. [illegible] The most important measures yet submitted to Congress, judging from the conversation of members, are the proposition of the President to repeal the civil tenure act and Senator Trumbull's bill presented to-day providing that Congressmen shall under penalty of a thousand dollar fine abstain from urging appointments to office except in writing and under other restrictions. The House will readily accede to the former, but the Senate being loth to part with the power it now has under the act will hesitate. If it does not reject the proposition and the House will retaliate by rejecting the latter. The extended discussions evoked by these subjects have developed unbounded confidence in the Administration and an acknowledgment of the necessity which exists for a radical change in the present system of appointments that will undoubtedly result in the passage of Mr Jencke's civil service bill amended as to embrace the leading features of both these projects. Senator Drake's Judiciary bill provokes animated discussion, which develops the fact that it has but few friends in either House. It will probably be amended so as to curtail the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, but its leading feature prohibiting that body from deciding laws of Congress to be unconstitutional will be stricken out.

A NEW EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

A large number of Congressmen during an interview with Secretary Boutwell and Commissioner Delano to-day expressed their earnest approval of the President's suggestion in his message to create a new executive department by separating the Revenue Bureau from the Treasury Department. Several bills with this object in view have been proposed, providing for the organization of divisions or a bureau in the proposed department which shall have separate jurisdiction over the taxes on whisky, incomes, cotton and tobacco which are yet under consideration.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION IN VIRGINIA

The general opinion is that Virginia will be admitted to the Union, but there is a clear determination on the part of Congress to secure the safety of the new Republican constitution. Exactly how this is to be done has not transpired. It will be recollected that this constitution was adopted by a majority almost equal to the entire vote cast for Wells and Walker in the July election. Yet notwithstanding this fact, it is not doubted that there is a large party ready to take advantage of the power that may be given to the Legislature, and call a convention for the purpose of remodeling and destroying that important instrument. Governor Walker is believed to be hostile to the design. He favored the resolutions introduced into the Legislature pledging the safety of the new constitution, but they were smothered and never came to a vote. Senator Lewis is openly in favor of its preservation and a committee of Conservative members of the Legislature are now in Washington urging the admission of the State, they may perhaps be able to satisfy Congress that no such movement shall succeed. The President does not conceal his anxiety for the speedy admission of the State, and such is the clear wish of the Republicans in Congress, but there is a determination not less apparent to save the new Constitution. It is hoped that Senator Lewis will be able to remove the only obstacle in the way.

[From the Chicago Tribune, 10th.]

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Mr. Williams introduced a joint resolution, relating to the amendment of the constitution, providing that whenever satisfactory evidence is furnished to the Secretary of State that three-fourths of all the Legislatures have ratified any proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States, he shall forthwith proclaim the facts of such ratification, and if it shall appear that the Legislature of a State has ratified an amendment proposed as aforesaid, any other action by the Legislature of that State, as to such amendment, shall be void, and disregarded by the Secretary of State. Mr. Williams moved the reference of the bill to the Committee on Judiciary, and expressed a hope that it would receive early consideration, which, for obvious reasons it deserved. It was so referred.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION OF THE SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON Dec. 10.—Mr. Trumbull reported from the Committee on the Judiciary a bill introduced by Mr. Sumner relating to the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute. The bill as amended is as follows:

A Bill defining the jurisdiction of courts of the United States in certain cases.

Be it enacted, &c., That under the constitution the judicial power of the United States does not embrace political power or give to the judicial tribunals any authority to question the political departments of the government on political questions, and it is hereby declared that all courts of the United States in the administration of justice shall be bound by the decisions of the political departments of the Government on political questions.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it rests with Congress to decide what government is the established one in a State, and it is hereby in accordance with former legislation that no State governments exist in Virginia, Mississippi or Texas, and the so called civil State governments in either of said States shall not be recognized as a valid or legal State government either by the executive or judicial power, or authority of the United States, until Congress shall so provide or until such State government is represented in the Congress of the United States, and it is hereby declared that the act of Congress entitled "An Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," passed March 2d, 1867, and the several acts supplementary thereto, are political in their character, the propriety or validity of which no judicial tribunal is competent to question, and the Supreme Court of the United States is hereby prohibited from entertaining jurisdiction of any case growing out of the execution of said acts in either of said States until the Senators and Representatives from such States shall be admitted into the Congress of the United States or Congress shall recognize such State government as valid, and meanwhile all acts or parts of acts authorizing an appeal, writ or error, habeas corpus or other proceeding to bring before said Supreme Court any case, civil or criminal or other proceeding arising out of the execution of said act for a more efficient government of rebel States, and of acts supplementary thereto, or which authorize an appeal in any case from the judgment of the Circuit Court of the United States in a habeas corpus proceeding to the Supreme Court, or which authorize the Supreme Court to issue a writ of habeas corpus or other writ to bring before it for review any judgment of a circuit or any other court or any Judge thereof in a habeas corpus case or proceeding be and the same are hereby suspended, and no law heretofore passed extending the judicial system of the United States over any of said rebel States shall be construed to recognize any State government existing therein until the Senators and Representatives from said States shall be admitted into the Congress of the United States, or Congress shall recognize a State government therein as valid, and the President is hereby directed to hold said State by military authority without regard to any civil proceeding or authority whatever.

[illegible] Professor [illegible] F. Chandler recently sent a specimen of ore containing native platinum from Oregon to Professor F. Wöhler of the University of Göttingen. A letter from Professor Wöhler, which is given in the American Journal of Science for November, informs Professor Chandler that he finds therein the new mineral composed of sulphide of ruthenium and osmium [illegible] in the Borneo platinum ore examined by him some time since, to which mine[ral] he gave the name of laurite. After detailing the steps of analysis, Professor Wöhler adds: "On examining under the microscope the mineral powder which had been freed from platinum, gold, chromic iron (in part), also iron and tin, and from which the rather unmixed [illegible] had been removed by aqua regia, besides many grains of chromic iron and beautiful hyacinth crystals, colorless and transparent grains resembling quartz were observed, but besides these grains resembling rounded diamond crystals were detected. To ascertain whether these crystals were really diamonds a grain of the powder was ignited in a stream of pure oxygen gas to convert the carbon into carbonic acid [illegible] I am satisfied therefore that besides the laurite, iridosmine, chromic iron, hyacinth, etc., the Oregon platinum contains microscopic crystals of diamonds."

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS

The Hon. Henry S. Foote has become weary of Tennessee and is going to Mississippi, and there is a rumor that he is getting quite radical in his political views.

A cute observer [illegible] that [illegible] who thinks "there has been more improvement in ghosts than in any other thing during the past five hundred years."

Two years ago an enterprising Yankee went [illegible] with a few hundred dollars and began cultivating peanuts. This year he has a [illegible] for $84,000, getting $54,000 profit.

An [illegible] church [illegible] fitted up with [illegible] newspaper [illegible] when they visit the church on business or otherwise.

A recent wedded Chicago wife has sued for a divorce on the horrible charge that her husband is a night editor. She will probably get it, for it is an outrage for a night editor to inveigle an unsuspecting woman into matrimony.

The Memphis Appeal modestly says its chief reason for wishing to see the work of reconstruction completed is the hope that the presence of Southern gentlemen in Congress will refine the manners and purify the morals of that body.

In reporting the execution of Bell at Edwardsville, southern Illinois last week, the St. Louis Democrat says: "The man's body was prepared by Robert Friday, the jailer, and his soul by the Rev. J. I. Drew of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Rev. A. D. Jack of the Presbyterian Church."

The Springfield Journal says: "Benjamin S. Prettyman, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the Constitutional Convention in Tazewell county, for fraudulent removal of spirits from Pekin to St. Louis has been fined $500. A previous suit against Prettyman netted the Government $10,000."

The Secretary of the Interior has given a decision in the matter of the amount of pensions to be paid to the children of soldiers and sailors who lost their lives in the service of the government. He rules that where there is more than one child each child is entitled to $2 in addition to the regular $8 per month, after the death or marriage of the mother.

The music in the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's church costs $7,000 a year. The organist gets $1,200, the conductor, $2,000, the tenor $1,000, the soprano $800, the contralto 800, and the basso $800, leaving $300 for incidentals. The paid choir sing the solos and concerted pieces, but the hymns are sung by the whole congregation, led by a volunteer choir of about seventy performers.

There has been one hundred and twenty five carpenters employed for some time past in building snow sheds for the Union Pacific railroad. It is expected that seven miles of the sheds will be completed by the 1st of February. A double line close fence will be made for all the lesser cuts. The superintendent hopes by this outlay to avoid a recurrence of the detentions of last winter.

A late visitor to Chicago writes to his home newspaper: "I went to hear Dr. Hatfield preach and pray yesterday afternoon. He prayed that the Lord would remove from Chicago all intemperance, Sabbath breaking, licentiousness, fraud, profanity, cheating and every form of vice, and then—I did not hear the last few sentences because I was thinking what would be left of Chicago."

A short time ago a close-fisted farmer on the Sandy river in Maine, died, after devising $1 to his only son. The old gentleman was duly buried in the venerable churchyard, which suffered a terrible washing away by the late flood, and a short time ago his body was found opposite the son's place, having been brought down the river a long distance. When the tender hearted son was informed of the fact he made the touching remark: "Probably come back after that dollar."

A letter from Rome says the Pope—a hale, hearty old man of 75 years of age, who takes a cold sponge bath daily exercises in the open air in all weathers, and is one of the cleanest, tidiest old gentlemen you ever saw—never has a fire in his room, no matter how cold it is, and those immense salons of the Vatican palace are cold enough in winter. In the ante-rooms there are large brass braziers filled with hot coals around which His Holiness' Crimson Blushes toast their shins and toes, but that is all!

A Pacific Coast Triumph—Ogden the Point of Junction

[From the Scientific and Mining Press.]

The fact that the junction of the two Pacific Railroads has been fixed at Ogden is a matter of importance not only to the railroads themselves, but also to the whole Pacific coast. In the contest between the Union and the Central roads each company had run its grades from Ogden on the east to Humboldt Wells on the west—a distance of some 225 miles. Moreover the Union laid its track to Promontory, while the Central obtained the bonds up to Ogden. The dispute has been carried on for a long time, the Union Pacific claiming that Promontory, the Central Pacific that Ogden should be the point of junction. Finally however a compromise has been effected and the Union Pacific has yielded up the fifty five miles of road between the two places.

This is an immense gain for the Central Pacific Company and for this coast. Promontory is at the [illegible] of a high mountain in a desert, where there is no water nor fuel of any kind. Ogden is in the center of a new valley where water is plenty and close to where good coal beds exist. It is the natural distributing point for the vast interior continent—southward through the rich valleys of Utah to the Colorado and northward to Idaho and Montana. The fact that from it radiates the easiest grades for railroads and wagon roads north and south was long known to the Mormons, and the two railroad companies spent over half a million of dollars in surveys which simply resulted in proving the same truth. Had the Union Company succeeded in holding the fifty five miles of road between Ogden and Promontory it would have held the balance of power at the great interior distributing point of the continent, and the Central Company would have been glad to have sold it that portion of its line between Promontory Point and the Truckee river. Having succeeded however in securing the disputed territory the Central company has the vantage ground and thus assures this coast [of] a position equal, if not superior, to the Atlantic coast as a feeder of the manufacturing and other wants of the Great Interior Basin.

Another advantage has been found. Should the Union Pacific be [illegible] to [illegible] the Central Pacific can make [illegible] by means of the [illegible] which Brigham Young is now building southward through [illegible] towards the Colorado with the main southern Pacific line when the latter is built, which certainly will be within ten years. So that while the Central Pacific is the present great transcontinental highway it can have a southern connection as well.

These are great and permanent advantages—advantages of the greatest value to the entire Pacific road; but advantages more especially because more general for the entire Pacific coast.

The Central Pacific Company considering the slight [illegible] which the Union Pacific Company built [illegible] the disputed territory to improve the road and lay a double track on the most [illegible] thus facilitating travel and rendering accidents much less likely to occur.

It now seems certain that Ogden will become one of the leading towns of the Interior.

The Missouri Democrat thinks that no great genius can be successful in newspaper life, the best journalists being "machine" editors.

Remnants of the Southern Confederacy Sold at Auction—$2,269,700 in Confederate Bonds Sold for $35.

[From the New York Times of December 9th.]

At [illegible] Mr. Nicolay, the auctioneer, yesterday [illegible] a public auction at the Exchange Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, several millions of bonds and [illegible] issued by the Confederate Government and [illegible] State and county authorities during the rebellion. The sale was made under a decree of the United States Court of the District of Virginia, made in the suit of the Merchant's National Bank of Baltimore vs. the Bank of the Valley in Virginia. There was a slim attendance of bidders [illegible] not more than half a dozen all told. The first lot offered was Confederate Government bonds of various denominations and dates, amounting to $2,269,700.

"Now gentlemen give me your attention," said Mr. Nicolay. "I am going to sell you millions of [dollars] worth of securities cheap. Every man [illegible] has a chance to get rich with a small amount of money. No. 1 on the list is $2,269,700 bonds issued by the Confederate Government. [illegible] How much am I offered for the lot? They are beautifully embellished with the portraits of Jeff Davis, Stonewall Jackson and other great lights of the Confederacy. How much shall I have for the lot?" [No response.] "Come, gentlemen make us an offer, don't be bashful; give us a bid; two millions of dollars, you know—a splendid chance to get rich. What do you say? Make us an offer." [No response.] "Why, gentlemen I am surprised. Where's John Bull? where's Laird? where's Raphael? Is there nobody to bid anything for two millions of dollars of Confederate bonds? Where's Barnum? where's Wood? Will no one give us a bid?" [No response.] "Why, gentlemen, I will sell them for wastepaper by the pound if you dont want them for anything else. They're a good thing to have in the house, I assure you gentlemen—good to light cigars with and other purposes. Come, gentlemen, don't be modest; give us a bid of some sort or other."

A Voice—Fifty cents.

Mr. Nicolay—Thank you sir. Fifty cents I am offered, only fifty cents, gentlemen, for two million dollars' worth of securities. Shall I hear any more? Who says a dollar?

A Voice—A dollar.

Mr. Nicolay—Thanks again, gentlemen; $1 I am offered. Why, gentlemen, the blank paper is worth more than that to say nothing of the bonds. Now give us a bid, gentlemen; who says $2? Recollect, gentlemen, there are $2,000,000 of securities.

A Voice—Five dollars.

Mr. Nicolay—Five dollars I am offered; who says $6?

Some gentleman here bid $6, when the bidding ran up rapidly $1 at a time until it reached $16. Here there was a long pause, but at length the bonds took a new start and ran up $1 at a bid, until they reached $31, when they stopped short. [illegible] Finally some one bid $33, and Mr. Nicolay had exhausted his eloquence and persuasive powers in vain to get another bid, the lot was knocked down at that figure to E. B. Parker.

The remaining lots were sold in a similar manner, at the following prices:

$696,935 in notes, issued by the Confederate Government, to A. Vaughan for $5.

$6,000 in Augusta county (Va.) bonds, issued during the war, to C. Hatzler, for $3.50.

$1,498 in Augusta county (Va.) notes, issued during the war, to [illegible] for $1.50.

355 in Corporation of Staunton notes, issued during the war, to A. Vaughan for $1.50.

$51,727 Virginia bonds and [illegible] notes, issued during the war, to Mr. Hess, for $13.

$21,648 in county and [illegible] bonds and notes, issued during the war, to Mr. Smith for $1.

An Irish paper says of the late Lady Palmerston: "Her father was a sister of Sir Ralph Milbanke, the mother of Lady Noel Byron."

In an Illinois graveyard an image of a pet dog is out on a tomb-stone, with the words under it, "of such is the kingdom of heaven."

SATURDAY MORNING DECEMBER 25 1869

To all a Merry Christmas

The light of all Christendom this morning the greeting will pass from millions of lips to millions of hearts "A merry Christmas" accompanied with good will and that Christian charity which the Son of God came on earth to teach It is the day to which tradition has lent a peculiar sanctity as being the birthday of the Saviour and to which the customs of most Christian countries have given a charm beyond all other days of the year. Its recurrence is celebrated more widely, with warmer geniality and in a spirit of more perfect human fellowship human fellowship purged of human vice than any day in the year's calendar To-day the world leaves its pursuits and all classes join in a festival at once religious domestic and merry-making Whence or when sprang the custom into vogue matters little that the observance of it harmonizes discordant elements and augments the sum of human happiness matters more and moves even the infidel to join the christian in welcoming the annual return of a day when each can so heartily wish for his neighbor "A merry Christmas and to all men, peace and good will

Advertising Oregon at the East

A very important feature—to Oregon—has lately been introduced into the papers of California and the Eastern States We mean the daily dispatches by telegraph from this city and other points along the telegraph line giving accounts of the more important occurrences in the State. For the prominence which is thus given to our State, we suppose we are mainly indebted to the Western Union Telegraph Co., for the perpetuation of this form of advertising, we shall be indebted to the spirit of rivalry which exists among the leading newspapers everywhere. However the idea originated of sending and publishing Oregon dispatches, it is certain that our wedge has entered and it remains for us to assist in driving it. We observe that the Bulletin, Alta, Chronicle, Union and other leading papers of California, now have daily telegrams from Oregon, and that in quite a number of Eastern newspapers these dispatches are republished in whole or in part, with their Oregon dates. This alone will prove a most valuable advertisement of our State, bringing to the notice of hundreds of thousands of readers various matters of information concerning our climate, commerce, geography and progress As for instance; in a day or two it will be [illegible] and published all over the United States that the first twenty mile section of the railroad to connect Oregon and California has been completed. Oregon will thus be [illegible] to the mind of the eastern reader in a new phase as a State having great resources (for no other builds railroads) an inland commerce, enterprise and energy, with a disposition to compete in the [illegible] movements of the day. The inquiry "what is Oregon?" will naturally arise, and that will be followed by a better understanding of us in all respects To be known is all we require to insure all we most [illegible]

In this connection, we are furnished, opportunely, by Mr. Drake, Secretary of the Board of Statistics, Immigration and Labor Exchange, a note from Dr. Loryea, Vice President, in reply to a paragraph in yesterday's Herald, suggesting the [illegible] of a daily meteorological record to be telegraphed to the East. Dr. Loryea writes:

PORTLAND, Dec 24, 1869.

Editor Oregonian; In this morning's issue of the Herald, it is suggested to our Society the propriety of procuring barometers, thermometers and rain guages, so that we may have the facilities to keep a daily meteorological record.

I would state for your information that I have written to the Hon. H. W. Corbett, requesting him to apply for us to the authorities of the Smithsonian Institute for a complete set of these instruments. I have no doubt but that the Senator will attend to this, and be successful in procuring the [illegible]

There are many things necessary to be done by our Society to make Oregon known abroad, and it is very easy to find fault or make suggestions, but it takes money to carry out the objects for which the Society was organized Our means and resources are limited, and if our people could only appreciate what can and would be accomplished, if we only had means enough, I am sure they would exhibit a more liberal support to our Society.

Truly yours,
A. M. LORYEA,
Vice President.

In explanation of this note, it is only necessary to state that, the Smithsonian Institute having ample means and being engaged in making a complete general meteorological record of the United States furnishes free of cost, all the necessary instruments and appliances, to responsible parties in all sections of the country. The favor asked for will no doubt be granted and soon received

Editorial Notes

The Secretary of State of Iowa has prepared a table of the periodical press of that State from which it appears that of the whole number—two hundred and sixteen—147 are Republican, and 39 Democratic These figures probably denote the proportion of men of the one party to the other who can read.

One of the late San Francisco papers contains nearly a page of matter written up by one of the Sensational Reporters of the Period, as the result of "Interviewing" about half, we should say, of the local population on a knotty municipal question This interviewing feature of journalism seems to be spreading like a fearful epidemic It is most emphatically an epidemic nuisance

The Democracy of Polk county lately met in august conclave, elected a President and Secretary, appointed a a committee on resolutions and then solemnly and majestically resolutioned that "the Democracy of Polk is a unit, and further that whoever says it isn't is a vile traducer and—other bad names We are happy to hear that, after this remarkable effort, the "Unit" was able to adjourn

On the 9th December, Secretary Boutwell transmitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, in answer to a resolution of inquiry, an estimate of the appropriations necessary to supply deficiencies for the fiscal year to end June 30 1870 The total amount is estimated at $3 345 408 71 Among other items in the estimate we find $30 000 for the Custom House at Astoria and $25,000 for the Court House at Portland Oregon

Prominence is given in San Francisco to the fact that Mr W H Webb, the world renowned ship-builder of New York is among the recent arrivals at that city from the East Mr. Webb is well known from his connection with the Nicaragua transit line of steamers and in fact with nearly every steamboat enterprise between ports in the Atlantic and the Pacific He is to remain some weeks, and it is presumed that his visit has some connection with contemplated movements of importance to the Pacific coast

There has been no acknowledgement of the success of Grant's administration and the soundness of Republican financial policy more complete and [illegible] than that turned in the precipitate desertion by Democratic Congressmen of the favorite Western Democratic policy of repudiation Nothing but the thorough conviction that the people are on the side of Grant and honesty could have induced Democratic politicians to discard their trump card so hastily

The effect of the [illegible] railroad has not been as [illegible] as was expected [illegible] the [illegible] way of [illegible] Thus far for eleven months the number of vessels sailing from [illegible] ports [illegible] is 100 against [illegible] for the entire year of 1868 The aggregate tonnage is 123 110 tons as against 148 048 last year Vessels on the berth December 1st to sail before the end of the year had an aggregate tonnage of [illegible] tons This is greater than the figures at the same time last year probably occasioned by the idea that the railroad will not be able to do so much during the winter and that there may be some reaction from the depression in goods in the spring

IDAHO

From the Boise Chronicle Dec 18

Mr Pinkham of the Idaho Stage Line informs us that since last Sunday he could have loaded two coaches every morning with passengers but was unable to procure the stock necessary to run the extra line Consequently he has been able to dispatch but few extra coaches during the week

The ditch of Wright & Co, on Willow Creek, which has been in course of construction for some time is very nearly completed Next week miners expect to commence work on their claims The ground has prospected from forty colors to 1½ cents to the pan This is exclusively a Chinese camp, and no show for persons on the outside The ditch was constructed by Chinamen, who hold the ground and will take their pay in water About 300 Chinamen will be at work this winter if the weather is propitious

From Mr Jeff Howell Deputy Sheriff of Boise county, we get the following Thursday noon the jury in the Burmester case was empanneled It consists of the following named persons Green White, Wm Dair, Alex Cyphers, J J Tompkins, Jas Kirkpatrick, George Tregaskis, George Miller, John McDonner John Reardon C H Baldwin John Merrill, S Chamberlain Five witnesses for the Territory had been examined up to 10 o clock Thursday night, when Court adjourned Mr Howell had been dispatched to Boise City with bench warrants for witnesses, at 10 o clock Thursday night. He returned to Idaho City yesterday morning

[From the Boise Statesman 18th]

Editorial correspondence of the Statesman says of the trial of Burmester Idaho City is full of strangers, witnesses and jurors who were summoned upon the venire, and others who are present to hear the trial The trial did not at first create much excitement, but as the examination of witnesses began interest increased and the large court house was filled to its utmost capacity Four or five witnesses were examined on Thursday afternoon, but the evidence was received too late last night for publication in this issue We shall give the readers of the Statesman a complete history of the trial as it progresses. A large number of witnesses, some sixty or more, are summoned, and the trial promises to occupy the greater portion of next week, although Judge Noggle is using every effort to press it to a conclusion, and has thus far presided with the utmost satisfaction to both the prosecution and the defense

Camilla Urso's Grand Festival

From the Alta Dec [illegible]

A problem that has puzzled the brains of some of our best financiers has at last been solved by a quiet unassuming artiste the talent of Camilla Urso [illegible] will be seen [illegible] toward extricating the Mercantile Library from embarrassment [illegible] Madame Urso desirous of testifying [illegible] substantial manner her appreciation of the [illegible] welcome she has received at the hands of our citizens proposes to give a grand concert [illegible] at the Mechanics' Pavilion [illegible] festival musical entertainment at the Mechanics' Pavilion [illegible] tute which in extent and completeness shall excel anything hitherto known on this coast not excepting only the famous Peace Festival at Boston [illegible] Madame Urso after her habit will devote all their energies to this object Her plan is comprehensive and business like She proposes to gather from all parts of this and the adjoining States 500 or 1 000 musicians—instrumental and vocal—who shall form an efficient and monster chorus and orchestra such as the abundant musical talent on this coast is competent to furnish She proposes that during the three festival days the stores and shops shall be closed for three or four hours during the performances so that every class of our citizens may avail themselves of the occasion that the steamboat and railroad companies shall transport, free of charge to and from the city performers and singers and that the hotels shall make for those persons some deduction in prices during the three days, and the telegraph lines abate in their charges for all despatches sent over their lines on the business of the festival The lady is full of enthusiasm on the subject [illegible] seems to be as thoroughly imbued with the spirit of it as she has ever been with her [illegible] music

Madame Urso thinks that with the help of the artists who will congregate on this occasion she will be able to hand over a check for at least $30 000 to the Trustees of the Library while an accession of many thousands will be made to our floating population, each of whom may be expected to disburse a considerable sum in San Francisco, the aggregate of which cannot but be beneficially felt in every department of our local trade—hotels by the great crowds who will throng to them steamboats and railroads by the increased travel consequent on the event telegraph lines by the business which such a movement must naturally create, places of public amusement and resort street cars shops, retail and wholesale and in fact every branch of business and traffic will feel the stimulus of the great musical festival

But aside from the material benefit to accrue there is even a higher consideration The event regarded in a purely artistic view will assume an importance which, among a music-worshipping people such as ours, can scarcely be overestimated That such a Musical Congress has not before occurred on this coast is owing, not to the lack of the requisite artistic talent but that the organizing hand and controlling genius necessary for the work have not been found The Trustees of the institution having received this proposition from Madame Urso it may be believed, that no time in calling on her at the Occidental Hotel and gratefully accepted the generous offer! With this acceptance the noble enterprise may be considered as fairly underway, and the preliminary steps will be at once taken to carry it into effect We shall announce its progress from time to time The correspondence is as follows

OCCIDENTAL HOTEL, Dec 1, 1869.

To the President and Board of Directors of the Mercantile Library Association of San Francisco

GENTLEMEN—The present embarrassment of your Society having come to my knowledge, and wishing in some suitable manner, to show my gratitude to the people of this city for the kindness and appreciation I have met with during my visit, I have thought of no better method to do so than in offering you the benefit of a grand musical entertainment, such as I originally intended giving here with the sincere hope that it may prove a help towards relieving the Mercantile Library of its present difficulties

Should my offer be accepted, I will, gentlemen consecrate all my time during the two months necessary for its preparation to make it a grand success I am gentlemen, yours obediently

CAMILLA URSO

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 2 1869

MADAME In behalf of the Board of Trustees of the Mercantile Library Association, I have the pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 1st instant, offering to give a grand musical entertainment for the benefit of the institution and its depleted treasury

Your noble proposition comes most opportunely The Library Association at the present time greatly needs assistance and encouragement from every friend of good order and good morals, as well as from every lover of literature and art The enterprise which you so generously suggest will, I am sure, meet with the cordial encouragement and patronage of the public I accept your proposition in the name of the Association, with thanks for your kindness, and with the assurance that the officers and members will heartily cooperate with you in securing success to the entertainment

I am, Madame very respectfully yours,
ROBT B SWAIN, President

Flattering to Our Poet

The Overland Monthly for January has a notice of "Onward"—a Lay of the West, by A W Patterson "Pleasant Hours," by Frank Stewart, and "Joaquin et al," by C H Miller—all three together—which will be found readable as well as somewhat flattering to our poet It says

If these volumes are a response to a somewhat frequent and vehement call for manly poetry of a Pacific variety It is to be presumed that the anxiety of conservators of our literary interests is satisfied But people who clamor for the "coming man" in politics or poetry have an unpleasant trick of abandoning him to the mercy of the critics when he does come or at best buttressing him with the most yielding and treacherous commonplaces And we find it very difficult, from the pervading vagueness and flaccidity of local "notices," to determine which of the three is he If he is to be detected like the Prince in the Arabian Nights from a habit of putting pepper in his cream tarts, we should say his name was Miller and he lived in Oregon If "Progress" is to be his theme and he has the quality of projecting poetry on the Rising Village of Jonestown or [illegible] with its six saloons barber shop and hotel we behold him in Patterson If a large [illegible] of the limitless prairie be his distinguished feature he exists in Stewart

But if we dare answer the unasked and unimportant question which of the three wrote what might be reasonably called poetry we should say Miller with perhaps the important addition that he gave the promise of writing much more vigor [illegible] local poetry than has yet been written in California For when we have overlooked the dubious taste of subject and title and have stripped away the husk of some crudities we find in Joaquin et al the true poetic instinct with [illegible] natural facility of [illegible] and dramatic vigor that are good in performance and yet better in promise Of course at present Mr Miller's [illegible] entirely easy in harness [illegible] given to [illegible] and curveting and at such times his [illegible] is generally clothed with thunder and the glory of his nostrils is terrible But his passion is truthful and his figures flow rather from his [illegible] than his sentiment And when he [illegible] himself with such easy [illegible] as [illegible] the Sierras [illegible] that [illegible] her linen [illegible] dry the picture [illegible] but striking

We are afraid we prefer Mr Miller [illegible] his poetry When he explains [illegible] line

by saying that [illegible] persuades [illegible] making [illegible] is generally [illegible] speak [illegible] utterly lacking in Mr Stewart's [illegible] which begins [illegible]

[illegible]

without supplying the rest of the [illegible] to the curious reader But this may [illegible] accident for in another poem beginning

'Tis a fearful night [illegible]

the writer having a pardonable weakness for a clear conversation in inclement weather the entire poem is prefaced as the title

We see no reason for changing an opinion already expressed, that the best poetry written in the State has not been immediately inspired by the popular climate scenery or conditions [illegible] The expression of California life [illegible] the medium has been, thus far a failure [illegible] The fact that some of the gentlemen here noticed as well as the seventy five crucified in the All [illegible] review of May Wentworth's Poetry of the [illegible] may hereafter astonish and utterly confound us At present we can only say that bland skies and genial critics invite beautiful scenery and indulgent publishers welcome them There are all the means for getting out first class books of poetry as the reader will admit in looking over these admirably printed volumes—everything in fact but the poet

CITY.

SUNDRIES—The record of deeds for Multnomah county show the number of transactions [in] real estate during the year 1869 to have been eight hundred and twenty five. This is about one hundred and forty in excess of the deeds recorded in 1868.

The Baptist Church in this city having been finished it will be dedicated on the second of January one week from to morrow.

A fat bear was hanging in front of the meat market of Messrs Spaulding & Kline yesterday.

Quite a revival is in progress at the A M E Zion Church in this city. It is conducted by Revs. Lodge and Thompson. Several new members have been received.

The hotel registers yesterday show arrivals to the number of over one hundred.

A man named Erwin fell from the balcony of the New Columbian Hotel night before last a distance of over twenty feet striking the wharf below. His injuries are very severe and it is feared will prove fatal.

Some floating ice was observed in the Columbia yesterday above the Cascades. No fears however are felt of a freeze as the weather had grown much milder.

WASHINGTON LODGE.—Washington Lodge A F & A M located at East Portland held their annual election on Wednesday evening last. The officers chosen for the ensuing Masonic year are J W Pratt W M; A M Loryea S W; G W Smith, J W; S E Wisbard S D; H Glenn J D; J L Shute Sec; John Bowman Treas; E Owen, Tyler. The ceremony of installation will take place on next Monday evening at seven o'clock, on which occasion an oration will be delivered by Rev H K Hines of Vancouver. Next following the installation on the same evening the Lodge will give a supper and ball at the Grand Hotel in East Portland.

NOISY.—Last night a number of the boys began the celebration of Christmas by getting "full as ever," and began skylarking around and singing "Sherman's March Through Georgia" and other songs not quite so patriotic or polite, somewhat to the annoyance of the more sober portion of the people. Marshal Sann and a deputy or two were on the look out and gave them a hint or two which seemed sufficient as they either went home and shared themselves or got too drunk to make much noise, or they went somewhere else for [illegible] night stillness reigned.

VIEW OF PORTLAND—Hon M P Deady has presented the Portland Library Association with a photographic view of our city. The picture is done in the best style of the art and is an ornament to the reading room of the Association which it adorns. It was executed from small photographs in San Francisco and is the best view of Portland we have yet seen. The society receive it and will doubtless prize it much both as an addition to their rooms and as a gift from one of their most active members.

CAKES AND CANDIES—Persons who have had occasion to pass the store of Alisky & Hegele on First street, lately, may have noticed the beautiful display of cakes and candies in their show windows. These articles are made by these gentlemen and for style and manufacture they can not be surpassed in the city. They have now made up a lot of the finest cakes and fanciest [illegible] to be found in Portland.

ASPHALTUM WALKS—It has been suggested that it would be a good plan for the city to have asphaltum walks made through the plaza. The dirt walks are very unpleasant and people will not use them in such a condition. Neat and substantial walks could be made at a trifling cost and would add much to the beauty of the plaza after the trees and shrubs are grown larger and other improvements made.

FINE BEEF.—The quarters of a four year old steer were to be seen at the market of Messrs Spaulding & Kline yesterday, which, for size and fatness, are the best we have seen in the market. The steer was raised by Wm Savage, of Yamhill county, and butchered by Mr A H Johnson, of this city. The quarters were neatly dressed and weighed net 1,800 pounds.

ORO FINO THEATER.—It should be remembered that to night the last opportunity will be afforded the people of Portland to see Mr and Mrs Waller on the stage in this city, this season. We trust that they will be greeted by a large audience, as we certainly think they deserve it. Choice pieces from the best plays, and an entertaining [illegible] will be given.

FESTIVALS—The heavy rains last night did not prevent a full attendance at the various Sunday School festivals in the city. The occasion was one of great pleasure to the little folks and we doubt not that many young hearts sent up a prayer for blessing on the head of Old Santa Claus for the kindly manner in which he visited them.

AGAIN—We noticed yesterday that the gates leading into the plaza were open again and the loose stock running at large in the city had free ingress to the young trees and shrubbery planted by the city at the people's expense. It should be somebody's business to see that that place is not allowed to be used as a cow yard.

THIS EVENING—The Hall Street Methodist Sunday School will have a Christmas tree and festival at the church on Hall street this evening, on which occasion the public is invited to attend. We are informed that all who desire to do so can place gifts on the tree for their friends. The exercises will begin at six o clock.

LECTURE.—Rev P Mans will lecture on Pius IX next Tuesday evening, at the Catholic Library Rooms in this city.

Mrs. Rosa Martin, announced as a trance speaker, will lecture at Harmony Hall to morrow evening at half past seven o clock. Subject [illegible] of Marriage.

PARTY AT OREGON CITY—Prof Cardinell will give a party at the Court House in Oregon City on Friday evening New Year's Eve. The Prof has a happy faculty of conducting his dancing parties in a manner highly conducive to the enjoyment of all who attend.

SOCIABLE—The Good Templars of the city will give a sociable this evening at their hall in the Carter Block to which all members of the Order and friends of temperance are invited. It is expected that a large number will be present and a general good time had.

COUNTERFEIT—We saw yesterday a note on the National Bank of New York which doubtless has gone through a good many hands but which on close inspection was clearly proven counterfeit. We hear of a number of such bills circulating in the city lately.

JAPANESE WORK—We noticed some very fine pieces of Japanese work which were disposed of by Mr. Richardson at auction yesterday. There were beautiful inlaid cabinets writing stands, glove boxes, etc. They make very handsome Christmas presents.

FINE GOODS—L Ash at the corner of First and Yamhill streets, has on his store a splendid display of fine silks velvets embroideries Cashmere shawls, etc. In fact the ladies will find everything there in the line of dress goods of the finest quality.

DIVINE SERVICE—A Christmas sermon will be preached by Rev C S Sprecher of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Philharmonic Hall this forenoon at 11 o clock. To morrow at 11 A M the same gentleman will preach a New Year's sermon.

THROUGH TO OREGON CITY.—The following dispatch was received in this city yesterday evening

OREGON CITY Dec 24

JAMES GUILD The track is completed. The engine crossed the Clackamas at half past four

KIDDER

SPECIAL SERVICE.—A special service will be held at the Unitarian Church to morrow commemorative of Christmas day at which time a report showing the progress of the Society and its prospects will be presented.

A New Through Route to the Atlantic

From the San Francisco Bulletin

A powerful combination of capital is forming for the construction of a new railroad route from the Atlantic to the West. The Richmond Dispatch states that A A Low has subscribed $1 000 000; Fisk & Hatch $2 000 000; C P Huntington $2 000 000; Gen Joseph R Anderson $1 000 000 and Messrs Bliss Winslow, Wainwright and Stewart $1 000 000 each toward the completion of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. Ten per cent of the money subscribed is to be paid on the 1st of January and the work is to be done within two years. The mouth of the Big Sandy at its confluence with the Ohio river has been the objective point of the enterprise which would make its Atlantic terminus at Norfolk. The main object as the Washington Chronicle says, is to bring freight from a point on the Ohio which is navigable for large steamers. As the Big Sandy is 150 miles further down than Parkersburg—the crossing place of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad—it is believed the greater portion of the freight upon the Ohio and its tributaries will be intercepted by the new road and by the time the Chesapeake and Ohio road reach this point a railroad from the junction will have been built to Cincinnati and a lateral branch to Lexington. The new road will have the advantage of a lighter grade than the Baltimore and Ohio, over only one mountain chain and through a milder climate.

The Chesapeake and Ohio will open a new route to the West, especially for Kentucky, Southern Ohio Indiana, and Illinois and for all Missouri with Kansas and the region stretching thence even as far as the Pacific. It was originally a Southern enterprise of little more than local significance controlled partly by Richmond capital. But Northern capital was recently admitted to it by a vote of 51 000 shares against 5 000, and the road now assumes the importance of a project that seems to aim at nothing else than opening a second route across the continent with San Francisco for its Pacific and Norfolk for its Atlantic terminus. Some $10 000 000 in gold have already been expended upon the road between Norfolk and the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs and a contract has been entered into to complete and equip it to the Ohio river, a distance of 200 miles at a cost of $15 000 000. The heavy subscriptions made by Huntington Fisk and Hatch who may be considered to represent the Central Pacific Railroad Company of California, would seem to indicate that this sagacious corporation is looking to the establishment of a new route to the Atlantic that will make it independent of the Union Pacific and give it a share in building up a new Atlantic port. It is easy to see how connection might be made between the Central Pacific and the Chesapeake and Ohio railroads but that such a scheme is really entertained, we only suggest as not an unreasonable conjecture.

PUBLIC MEETING AT OREGON CITY—COMMITTEES APPOINTED TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS

OREGON CITY Dec 24 1869

At a meeting of the citizens of Oregon City held at the Council Room on Thursday, December 23d 1869 the following proceedings were had.

On motion a committee of five was appointed to make proper arrangements, the said committee consisting of Hon F Barclay, T Charman, A S Apperson, John and William Barlow.

On motion, the Secretary was instructed to forward a copy of these proceedings to the DAILY OREGONIAN and to the weekly Enterprise for publication.

On motion adjourned

JAS A SMITH, Secretary

THE U S TREASURER'S OFFICE—Some little idea of the labor performed in the office of the Treasurer of the United States and of the great responsibilities that attach to it may be gathered from the fact that during the eight years it has been in charge of Mr Spinner the transactions foot up $44 000 000 000—forty four thousand million dollars. And if any evidence were needed of the qualifications of the Treasurer for his position during his whole term not one cent has been lost to the people of the United States either through the principal or his subordinates. This perfection of exactitude may well challenge comparison with any other financial feat on record. The Government and people will meet with an irreparable loss when Mr Spinner retires as he intends doing soon. The concluding portion of his report is a model of philosophy and it evinces the careful calculating disposition of the man. Too modest to base the success of his administration upon his own vigilance and skill he prefers to withdraw when the tide of honor is full lest good management might after all not be sufficient to ward off accidents or make exceptions to an unexampled career of financial accuracy.—Philadelphia Press, Dec 11th

Dyspepsia in the Pacific States.

Nowhere in the United States has dyspepsia heretofore been more general or marked with more distressing symptoms than in California. Luxury high living and dissipation in the cities; hardship privation irregular habits and the effects of malaria in the mining regions have combined to render CHRONIC INDIGESTION one of the most terrible scourges of the Pacific States. It is a source of satisfaction therefore, to be able to report the gradual and steady decline of the disease and its distressing concomitants on this side of the Continent. As this happy change began to be perceptible soon after HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS had attained the rank of a Standard Remedy in this region and as it has become more and more apparent in proportion to the increasing sales of the Great Vegetable Specific reason suggests that the bane has been ameliorated and checked by the operations of the genial elixir advertised as its antidote. Unprejudiced physicians admit this to be the fact and abandoning all the ordinary stimulants as well as the astringent tinctures and mineral excitants of the pharmacopeia, are now prescribing the BITTERS as a cure for every form of indigestion. The preparation possesses three great advantages over every other so-called stomachic. It is not merely a tonic but combines the properties of an anti billious medicine a gentle laxative and a blood depurent with those of a wholesome stimulant. It neither depletes nor excites, but strengthens and restores. No medicine ever introduced into the Pacific region has so entirely gained the confidence of every class of society or approached in the extent of its sales HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

The Red River Rebellion.

The following from the St. Paul Pioneer of the 5th inst. will be found of interest, as explanatory of some of the causes and of the progress of troubles in the Red River country; though recent events have falsified the opinions expressed by the Pioneer's informant.

Among the arrivals in this city yesterday was Mr. Thomas Boddy, direct from Fort Garry, which place he left on the 22d of last month. He brings intelligence from that interesting locality over a week later than anything heretofore received at this place. Mr. Boddy is well known to many of our citizens as a gentleman whose statements can be relied upon as entirely truthful. We are indebted to him for the following items of news from Fort Garry, which will be read with interest, coming, as it does, from a reliable gentleman, who has had every opportunity to know the feeling among the people of the Red River Settlement, and who has been conversant with everything that has transpired there since the commencement of the so-called rebellion.

Mr. Boddy informs us that the accounts received and published here concerning the difficulty at Fort Garry, have all been greatly exagerated. When the intelligence was received that the Hudson's Bay Company had relinquished all their rights and privileges to the Canadian Government, and that the Government would shortly send out a Governor to take possession, there was considerable feeling aroused, and this was seized upon by a number of designing and daring men, who continued to work upon the passions and prejudices of the French half-breeds, until they were ripe for any mischief these leaders might plan. The arguments they used, and the steps that were subsequently taken, as stated by Mr. Boddy, do not differ materially from the accounts we have heretofore published. Through all the difficulty, however, none but the French half-breeds, or Catholic portion of the inhabitants took any part. The English and Scotch half-breeds, or Protestant portion of the people, stood aloof, and all efforts to draw them into the rebellion proved unavailing.

In fact so strong was their opposition to the course pursued by the French element, that had the time arrived for the Hudson's Bay Company to turn over the government to the Dominion, when Gov. McDougall reached the border, they would have risen in arms and conducted him to Fort Garry. But until the first of December, the time stipulated for the inauguration of the new government by the agreement between the Hudson's Bay Company and the Canadian Government, Gov. McDougall would have no authority there, nor would they be justified in taking measures to bring him within the bounds of the settlement. Taking this view of the case, they let matters take their course, biding their time until the 1st of December arrived. Mr. Boddy thinks fully two-thirds of the inhabitants took this view of the matter, and quietly submitted to the course taken by the insurgents.

At the time of the arrival of Gov. McDougall and party at the barrier, when he was stopped and escorted over the line, Mr. Boddy says there were about 300 French half-breeds under arms. They escorted the Governor over the line, established a barricade at [illegible] river to guard the road leading from Pembina to Fort Garry, and also took possession of the Fort. So far they succeeded, for they met with no opposition; but they failed to enlist the active co-operation of the Protestant portion of the inhabitants. They went through the form of electing a President, Secretary and twelve Councilmen, and on the 6th of November issued the following circular:

[illegible] THE INHABITANTS OF RUPERT'S LAND.

The President and Representatives of the French-speaking population of Rupert's Land in council, (the invaders of our rights being now expelled,) already aware of your sympathy, do extend the hand of friendship to you our fellow inhabitants, and in doing so invite you to send twelve representatives from the following places, viz:

St. Johns, 1; St. Margarets, 1; Headingly, 1; St. James, 1; St. Marys, 1; Kildonan, 1; St. Pauls, 1; St. Andrews, 1; St. Clements, 1; St. Peters, 1; Town of Winnipeg, 2. In order to form one body with the above council consisting of twelve members, to consider the present political state of the country, and to adopt such measures as may be deemed best for the future welfare of the same, a meeting of the above council will be held in the Court House at Fort Garry, on Tuesday, Nov. 16, at which the invited Representatives will attend.

By order of the President,

LOUIS REIL, Secretary.

Winnipeg, Nov. 6, 1869.

On the 16th of November the Council met, composed of twelve members from the French half-breeds or Catholic population, and twelve members of the Protestant element. The Council was in session two days. The Protestant portion of the Council were to a man in favor of receiving Gov. McDougall, while the French Catholic members were divided among themselves in regard to what form of government they wanted. No vote was taken upon any subject, and the Council adjourned to meet again on the 22d, of November. What the result of that meeting was Mr. Boddy was not informed, as he left Fort Garry the day it met, on the 23d, but from the feeling everywhere apparent among the cooler, wiser heads at the settlement, he thinks the result was an invitation to Gov. McDougall to come in and occupy the land [illegible].

Mr. Boddy states that the feeling and excitement there is rapidly dying out. The insurgents, he says, when he left, more than fifty men under arms. Fifteen men only occupied Fort Garry, and about thirty-five were stationed at the barricade at Stinking river. The [illegible] of the 300 originally under arms had disbanded, and a large proportion of them had left for the plains upon their regular winter buffalo hunt, and those who [illegible] no desire to again take up arms.

Of the two Indian tribes in the immediate neighborhood of the settlement, both are favorable to McDougall. Fox the chief of [illegible], and Henry Prince, the chief of the [illegible], have both declared in favor of McDougall.

In the [illegible] matters move on much as usual, and a [illegible] would be puzzled to find anything there that looked like a rebellion. President Brousse and Secretary Reil occupy rooms at [illegible].

Mr. Boddy describes Brousse as a tall man, with dark complexion, about 35 years of age. He is a French half-breed, and a native of the settlement. Nobody ever heard of him before the outbreak, and so far, he has had but little if anything to say or do. The chief mover, the head and front of the rebellion, so far as talking is concerned, is Louis Reil, the secretary and commander-in-chief of the troops, while the brains are supplied by a young Catholic student named O'Donohue.

To sum up the whole thing in a nut shell, Mr. Boddy gives it as his opinion that the Red River rebellion is about over. It was commenced with no definite aim or object in view, and the men who could have made it a success have stood aloof, quietly awaiting the time when Gov. McDougall could enter, when they would unite in sustaining him. Gov. McDougall would issue his proclamation on the 1st of December, and at that time the opposition to him will have almost entirely disappeared.

Mr. Boddy says Gov. McTavish was lying very low, with no hopes of his recovery, yet his authority is recognized in all civil matters. He had forbidden any further tampering with the mails, and his orders were obeyed and the mails now go through without being opened.

THE EARTH TO BE LAPPED UP BY FIRE.—The sun's atmosphere, say the scientific men, is in a highly excited condition. A column of magnetic light is shooting out further and further from the solar sphere, and it is now stretching out forty-five millions of miles. In other words, it has accomplished half the distance between us and the sun! The interesting question, and one on which, perhaps, we do not wish any more light of this character is: How long will it be before it finishes the rest of the distance, and bridges the gigantic chasm between the earth and the sun? Is it a messenger sent out to snatch us up as food for the insatiate monster that keeps himself warm by devouring planets, and whose fire-eating propensities this whole earth would satisfy for a few days only? If so, how long will this emissary be in reaching us, and carrying the globe away as if we were a gigantic lump of coal for a roaring furnace? The column of light at intervals indicates its approach by flashing and corruscating with fresh brilliancy. So decided are its effects that two astronomers, one at London, the other at Calcutta, and neither knowing the experience of the other, supposed that the dark glass of their telescopes had been broken or put out of range, so strong was the flash of golden light upon the vision. It is predicted that before the end of next year this magnetic light will have got near enough to us to make its immediate and actual influence upon the earth distinctly felt. It is announced that in consequence we may expect to see phenomena that have never been seen or known before by the human race. If any of our readers, therefore, are yet disposed to complain of the weather and the earthquakes, let them remember that by this time next year, they may have an entire new line of experience to explain and endure, in comparison with which the winter and rough rude autumn of to-day may seem like a June morning in paradise, and the earthquake's shock and lightning's storm, a placid rocking in the cradle with a pleasant lullaby of thunder.

TRIFLES.

An Iowa paper tells its readers that they can get Chinese laborers "wholesale, retail and pig-tail!"

The Liberal Christian asks if the principle of sleeping cars can't be successfully introduced into church architecture.

"How came you to have a wooden leg?" "Why, my father had one, so had my grandmother. It runs in the family."

Mark Twain says that the Sadwich Islands dish of plain dog "is only the cherished American sausage with the mystery removed."

Henry Smidt blew out his brains in New York, because his sweetheart was not smitten with the tender passion, and would not be Smidt.

A member of the church in Vermont, desiring "a man from the Lord," prayed in this wise: "Send us not an old man in his dotage, not a young man in his goslinghood, but a man with all the modern improvements."

A Western clergyman printed recently a sermon wherein, speaking of the bountiful blessings of the past year, he uses this metaphorical language—"All the great causes of political and religious enfranchisement have equirmed with vitality."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, Dec 24, 1869.

The money market is in good condition. Gold quotations in New York, by private dispatches of the 22d, 120@120¾.

San Francisco Legal Tenders rates [illegible]83. Portland Legal Tender rates unchanged at [illegible] buying, 82½ selling.

Wheat—The Liverpool market showing some advance, prices are firmer with a tendency to increase in rates.

Flour is in good supply for home use, but prices show no signs of decline.

Barley—but little in the market, sales limited to immediate wants of owners.

Oats still find ready sale at the figures we give below.

All trade is dull to-day except that usually incident to the holiday season.

The heavy rains having again set in we may look for large receipts of produce by the river steamers. The three or four vessels in port will require fully as much for cargoes as is now in store for shipment.

After the new year our dealers confidently expect a revival of trade. Until then but few changes will be noted, and transactions limited.
